

JOE CARBERRY

CEO, Lympha Press

Prior to his current role as CEO of Lympha Press, Joe Carberry served as the Executive Team Leader for Medical Solutions Supplier. Trademarks of Joe’s leadership style are transparency and candor. “Trust is the underpinning of our culture at Lympha Press,” he says. “We’ve created an environment that fosters creativity and welcomes new ideas, which is a key to our continued growth and success.”

Those who work on Joe’s team often cite his positive outlook, inspiring leadership style, and willingness to consider “out-of-the-box” solutions to challenges. Not a fan of micromanagement, he believes in empowering his teammates to fulfill their professional and personal potential.

An impressive list of awards has followed. In 2012, Joe was the Main Line Chamber of Commerce’s “Emerging Leader of the Year.” In both 2019 and 2020, he received a Great Place to Work® For All™ Leadership Award - one of only fifty global leaders to make this prestigious list. In between? Eight consecutive “Top Workplaces” distinctions by the Philadelphia Inquirer, a Philadelphia Business Journal “Best Places to Work” award, and rankings on FORTUNE Magazine’s Best Small Workplaces in America and Best Workplaces in Healthcare and BioPharma.

Known for singing in his office, making recommendations for the next great documentary to watch, or bursting into laughter, Joe’s greatest joys are wrapped up in family. Olivia, Grayson, and wife, Jennifer, are his true treasures – and the reasons for the perpetual smile you see on his face.